

How to Save Money for Your Summer Vacation

A lot of people buy new swimsuits, cover-ups, and other summer essentials every year. But if you buy smart and comparison shop, you can get a lot more out of those clothes.

A summer getaway can provide a family with much-needed fun, relaxation, and bonding time. But it's not always so relaxing when you get home and see the state of your bank account. Here are a few tips to help you save money on your summer vacation.

1. Save on Clothes

A lot of people buy new swimsuits, cover-ups, and other summer essentials every year. But if you buy smart and comparison shop, you can get a lot more out of those clothes. Consider buying new things at the end of the summer rather than the beginning, when they're put on sale to make room for fall lines. Then choose simpler, classic styles. Don't be afraid to spend a little more on a high-quality item that will last for years. You'll wind up saving money in the long run when you don't have to buy all-new clothes every single year.

2. Ditch the Car

Instead of spending money renting a car, use public transportation to get around if possible. If that's not available, many places now have bicycles available to rent. If you need to stray further from your accommodations than you can easily go on a bicycle, you may find that it's cheaper to use a taxi app like Uber or Lyft for the few drives that you need to take than it is to rent your own car for the duration of your vacation. It also allows you to enjoy local sightseeing within the same fare

3. Use a Budget Hotel

There's no need to spend a lot of money in order to get a decent hotel room. Many budget hotels, such as Cassia cheap hotel near downtown san diego offer almost as much as a 4-star hotel for a greatly reduced price. Additionally, most 3-star hotels offer complimentary breakfasts, which 4-stars generally do not. This can save you a few more bucks each day, depending on how many people are traveling with you.

4. Eat In

You can't deny that eating out is part of the fun of going on vacation. But you can save a lot of money just by getting at least one meal a day from a grocery store rather than a restaurant. For example, if you stopped at a restaurant for lunch, pick up some fresh produce from a local store or farmer's market and fix a nice summer salad for supper. Or if you're planning to try a great restaurant for dinner, snag some bread and deli meat and have sandwiches for lunch. Grocery stores can be a great place to get a feel for the local culture, too, and find interesting, cheap souvenirs.

It might feel like you'll never be able to afford to go on vacation. But if you're smart with your money, you'll be on that tropical beach before you know it!
