

Romantic ideas

So you want to plan something special for your lover? Here is a swanky idea that I came up with.

If you live near a mansion hotel or any high class hotel out in the country, you're in luck. I will use Langon Hall for an example.. (Avg nightly rate is 300.00-400.00 & up) Most rooms have fireplace and jacuzzi and will do special requests before arrival. Go onto the hotel's website, & book the room you want. Secretly pack your sweetie's bag the night before you go and put it into the trunk of the car. (If you don't live with your sweetie don't fret, just tell him/her that they can stay the night at your place, on the night of the arrival of course. Or if worse comes to worse, steal a pair of his/her clothes and put them in your knapsack if he/she's in the washroom. He he he! (There's many things you can do to guarantee the night out) At the day of the booking, make sure you call the hotel to make those special requests (Chocolate dipped strawberries, & wine waiting for you in the room). If the room has a fireplace, bonus! If the room has a jacuzzi extra bonus. Bring your own bubble bath and candle set. This will for sure will make a romantic night!

Get into the car and go, just tell your sweetie you want to go for a country drive. He/she will fall for it! Drive toward the hotel, and pull up to the driveway. He/she will look at you with a funny look and may ask you what you guys are doing there. Simply tell him/her that there is an awesome high class restaurant in the hotel that you want to try. They may debate it, and if they do, coax them into it, they will usually fall for it, and if not, just tell them that you want to get a gift certificate for your mother's birthday and ask them to come with you, telling them you need their help to help you pick out which certificate would be best. This will get them moving. (Always have a back up plan and if you're good at thinking on your toes, then you got a bonus gift there. ;-)

Hold his/her hand and walk toward the entrance of the hotel, go inside walk up to the front desk and tell them that you have a reservation. Watch the look on your lover's face! That is if they don't faint!
