

Top-Rated Tourist Attractions & Things to Do in Thailand

---

Thailand is most popular countries in Southeast Asia. It is continuously growing and flourishing. It has magnificent temples, bustling cities, and amazing palm-studded beaches.

Thailand is one of the most popular countries in Southeast Asia. It is continuously growing and flourishing. It has magnificent temples, bustling cities, and amazing palm-studded beaches. After sunset, the streets get alive with the vendors and markets. They sell fun trinkets and delicious food. Visitors never get bored here. They have many places to explore and things to do.

Visitors should come Thailand from November to February because in summers Thailand gets extremely hot and humid. They should plan their holidays accordingly. After reaching here, they have plenty of things to do. Here are the perfect guide to know about Thailand and its lifestyle.

Bangkok

Multilane highways, skyscrapers, bumper-to-bumper traffic are the unique qualities of Bangkok. For getting around, tuk-tuks can be a fun experience. There are number of metered cabs are also available here. To avoid the heavy traffic during rush hours, metro system that runs through the main points of the city is a good option. To know more about this city have a look at Thailand Nightlife Guide.

In many days, visitors will find the pop-up and tented street food market. It can be found outside of the CentralWorld mall on the road of plaza hugging Ratchadamri. It is inexpensive and unpretentious. Visitors will get fresh fruit juice, fried seafood, skewers and grilled chicken. Those who are little hesitant to try food from outdoor makeshift stalls, should head over to the Eathai at Central Embassy. They can find food there in the basement level of the mall. To get the traditional noodle dish along with blue crab, visitors can go to the Baan Phad Thai. Afterwards, rooftop bar of Lebua would be amazing place to grab a cocktail and enjoy the city's stellar views.

The biggest attraction in Bangkok is the Grand Palace which is also known as Royal Palace. Visitors can also see the neighboring Wat Pho as it is famous for the reclining Buddha and massage school. This place is only used for the official state functions. Though tourists are not allowed to go into those buildings still they can wander the grounds. Here the beautiful open temples are also worth visiting. The craftsmanship in that architecture is amazing.

Floating markets are one of the most amazing wonders of Thailand. To take a tour of the markets of Damnoen Saduak along with a boat cruise would make the trip wonderful. Tourists will have the two-hour and comfortable journey to these markets from Bangkok. For so many years, these markets are the primary place for the residents where they trade and shop.

It is possible for the locals to live and shop above water because of the stilt homes. These homes are standing on the water's edge. Damnoen Saduak markets have become one of the major spots for the tourists. In these markets, tourists and local people board the long-tailed speed boats. These boats are designed to cross the floating markets and also keep travelers comfortable.

Chiang Mai

Visitors will feel this place as the rural town when compared to the capital of Thailand. The town square is characterized by the low, rickety building and fairly basic infrastructure. By heading a little west, they will find the few skyscraper and beautiful neighbourhood. There is a bit of everything for everyone in this eclectic destination.

For getting around, taxis are not easily available. It is better to roam around by foot within the square. Abundance of temples, markets and restaurants are located here. For long distance, visitors should choose Uber. It is a shared transportation mean for tourists and locals. Khao Soi is one of the most popular dishes in Chiang Mai. it is the regional food of north Thailand. Visitors will have unforgettable experience after having it.

Phuket

Phuket is a beautiful destination. It has a lot of beaches that have amazing scenery. But it is not the only place with these type of beaches. 25 miles across the famous Andaman Sea, there are Phi Phi Islands. These islands are famous for their breathtaking scenery that make it a perfect destination for a day for beauty, fun, and exploration.

From Phuket, tourists can board a speedboat. It will take them to the Phi Phi Islands. This speedboat is faster than the other common alternatives. After arriving at the Island, they can pick any guided tour. It will help them to explore the best of those Islands in one day. They can begin at Maya Bay which is an Island of Phi Phi Ley. They can take pictures or swim in the warm, clear water. The next stop would be a secluded beach. It is said that this spot is exclusive and give unparalleled experience. Visitors can also watch the underwater life that is off the coast.

The island of Phuket is a true treasure. They are the destination packed with incredible cuisine, never ending opportunities for recreation and beautiful beaches. Here is given an exciting way to explore the island, canoe cave tour around Phang Nga Bay. It is located at the southernmost point of Phuket. The Phang Nga Bay is very famous for its beauty. Visitors love to spend time here. This destination offers beautiful scenery and amazing landscape.

Thailand has some best dive sites. The diving near Ko Tao, Phuket, the Surin Islands, and the Similan Islands is famous for the brightly colored coral and fish. This country is one of the cheapest places to learn to dive. Visitors find diving in the Similan Islands and near Ko Lanta to be the best because of the better-preserved reefs.

Visitors can easily explore these places with the help of Bangkok Nightlife Guide. It has every information about Bangkok and its nearby places. There is more to the Thailand than just shopping, traffic, and temples. It is one of those countries whose charm emerges slowly.

